Profile

Senior Full Stack Developer with over 10 years of experience in backend and frontend development, designing, building, and optimizing scalable web applications. Proven track record in leading feature development, improving system performance, and integrating AI-driven solutions. Strong expertise in backend technologies, and frontend frameworks. Experienced in the cloud, DevOps, and testing practices, leveraging modern infrastructure and automation tools as needed.

With a strong background in design, I can assess and advise on UX/UI best practices, though my primary focus is backend development. Skilled in collaborating with cross-functional teams, conducting code reviews, and mentoring developers to enhance team efficiency and code quality.

A quick and independent learner, I excel at adopting new technologies and adapting to evolving industry trends. I have a strong sense of responsibility and solid technical judgment, enabling me to lead projects effectively and drive them to completion with high standards. Driven to build well-structured architectures and deliver high-quality, reliable software on time.
